

LENYO Mobile (LM)

It is a unique Bioregulation Technology (BRT) device that uses advanced carrier waves, which represent a brand new approach in the field of pulsed electromagnetic field (PEMF) technologies.

The purpose is to support biological communications at the cellular level. Cellular communication is critical to maintain the body's natural self-regulation and adaptation activities, which in turn help to strengthen the immune system, balance the body and maintain overall wellness.

LENYO Mobile is the most cutting-edge home bioregulation device available on today's market. It is a multi-channel device which works on several biological levels in the same time and it can support four different communication channels simultaneously. Typically, the nervous system, circulatory system, digestive system are supported equally to the target zone under session.

The LENYO Mobile device is designed for people who are following a health-conscious life style. This mobile phone sized unit, that you can carry everywhere, will help you to regain, maintain and enhance your vital organic balance, taking care of your physical, mental, and emotional well-being.

The LENYO Mobile has a built-in 4 channel signal emitter. When using it during commuting or at home, it can be connected with different sized external signal emitter pads.

There are 6 programs loaded on the device, in 3 lengths. We also offer 3 variable intensity settings for each program thus, there are 54 different program settings in one cell phone size device.

6 programs, the device comes with:
